

Again, Sheriff Williams testified the man before him. Then he said:

"So, after I don't think he's the man. But there is a wonderful resemblance."

At this point, whose name is withheld, the man upon whom the police here believed they could fix the blame for the mysterious murder, the photograph was Every conceivable question was put to him. I answered each question only after careful consideration as to be absolutely accurate and trusted that his statement would be communicated to Chief Shaw in full.

"I hope that you will be satisfied the I had nothing whatever to do with this affair," he said.
